1000 Apollo Way,
Santa Rosa
Classroom

Wednesday, March 18
8 am—noon

This is a Cal-OSHA requirement and must be part of the employers IIPP for any and all employees that go into a trench, vault or any confined space. The minimum fine could be as high as $25K should they incur an injury and do not have documentation in their records of this training.

ARE YOU CURRENT WITH THE CONSTRUCTION CHANGES ?

The seminar will include a review of Cal-OSHA confined space regulations, classification of confined spaces, confined spaces in the construction industry, physical and atmospheric hazards, duties of entrant/attendant/entry supervisor, atmospheric monitoring, ventilation, personal protective equipment and rescue. Attendees will see a display of the latest equipment and technology in the confined space industry. All participants will receive a training manual and certificate of completion.
